Japanese in Modern Philippine History

HAYASE Shinzō

Waseda University
Institute of Asia-Pacific Studies

October 2014
Contents

Introduction ........................................................................................................................................ 1
  Seeing the World and Japan from the Philippines
  History of the Study of Modern and Contemporary Philippines-Japan Relations
  Beyond Modern Written Historiography

I. Japanese Immigrants in the Philippines
Chapter 1 An Overview of Japanese in the Prewar Philippines
  —Emigrants, Diplomats and Military Activities ........................................... 10
    2. Japanese Construction Laborers on Benguet Road
    3. Japanese Planters and Laborers in Davao
    4. Japanese Fishermen
    5. Japanese Commercial Activities
    6. Japanese Diplomats in Manila
    7. Military Activities
Chapter 2 Diplomats of Meiji Japan in the Philippines ............................................. 24
    1. Japan’s Push Factor
    2. Philippines’ Pull Factor
    3. Japanese Laborers
    4. The Reports of Japanese Diplomats in Manila
    5. Japanese Diplomats and Japanese Expansion
Chapter 3 Japanese Fishermen in Manila Bay during the Meiji Period (1868-1912) ................................................................................................................. 40
  Introduction
    1. Fishermen in the Lists of Overseas Travelers to the Philippines
    2. Japanese Fishermen in the Philippines Classified by Occupations
    3. Four Stone Monuments in Hiroshima Prefecture
    4. Fishing Activities by Japanese Fishermen in Manila Bay
    5. Philippine Fishery
  Concluding Remarks
II. Japanese Goods in the Philippines

Chapter 4 Japanese Goods under the U.S.-Philippine Free-Trade System ........ 60

Introduction

1. The Structure of Japan, U.S., and Philippine Trade in Asia
   (1) The Characteristic Features of Japan’s Asian Trade
   (2) The Characteristic Features of U.S.-Asian Trade
   (3) Asian Trade in U.S.-Japanese Relations
   (4) The Characteristic Features of Philippine Foreign Trade

2. Japanese Products and Their Dealers
   (1) Japanese-Made Goods
   (2) Japanese Goods Dealers
   (3) The Japanese Consulate

Concluding Remarks

Chapter 5 A Study of Modern Popular Consumer Society—The Japanese Bazaars and Merchandise in the American-Occupied Philippines ........ 86

Introduction

1. The Formation of a Popular Consumer Society
   (1) American Culture and the Capital of Manila
   (2) Dissemination of Education and Mass Media
   (3) Development of the Transportation Network

2. Merchants in Rural Commerce
   (1) The Chinese
   (2) The Japanese

3. The Penetration of Japanese Merchandise into Filipino Society
   (1) The Causes of Increase and Decrease in the Import of Japanese Merchandise
   (2) The Influence of Japanese Merchandise on Philippine Society

Concluding Remarks

III. Japanese and the War in the Philippines

Chapter 6 The Philippine Society of Japan and The Philippine Information Bulletin .......... 122

Introduction

1. The Philippine Society of Japan or Firipin Kyōkai
2. The Philippine Information Bulletin or Firipin Jōhō

Concluding Remarks
Chapter 7  The Japanese Residents of "Dabao-kuo" .......................... 144

Introduction

1. Japanese Emigrants and Colonists to the Philippines
   (1) The Overall Plan
   (2) The Origins of the "Dabao-kuo"
2. Davao Japanese Residents' Cooperation in the War
   (1) "Place of Death"
   (2) The Invasion of Davao and the Japanese Community
   (3) Resident Japanese as "Models of Deportment for the People of the Philippines"
   (4) Monetary Donations
   (5) Volunteer Labor
   (6) Increasing Food Production
   (7) The Evaluation of the Davao Japanese
3. The Image of Japanese Held by Filipinos in Davao
   (1) War Crimes in Davao
   (2) Killings Soon after the Beginning of the War
   (3) Killings by the Military Police
   (4) Killings in the Midst of Flight
   (5) Role Played by the Davao Japanese

Concluding Remarks

Appendix  "Japanese War Crime Records
   —Closed Reports" in the Philippine National Archives

Chapter 8  Publications of War Memoirs as Paper Cenotaphs—Mass Death and the Defeat: The Meaning of Writing War Memoirs .............. 182

Introduction

1. Memorializing the War Dead in Modern Japan
2. Publication of War Memoirs on the Philippines
   (1) Publication Date
   (2) Age of Author
   (3) Index of Personal Names, Places, and Subjects
3. Analysis of War Memoir: The Moonlit Road by MARUYAMA Yutaka

Concluding Remarks
Conclusion ...................................................................................................................... 205

The Japanese in the Philippines during the Modern Era
Lack of Philippines–Japan Cultural Exchange

Bibliography ................................................................................................................ 212

Index ............................................................................................................................ 233
Lists of Tables

2–1. Arrived and Departed, and Immigrated and Emigrated Japanese to/from the Philippines, 1898–1912
2–3 (1). Number of Japanese Emigrants to the Philippines, 1901–12
2–3 (2). Japanese Emigrants to the Philippines, 1901–12 by Prefecture
2–3 (3). Japanese Emigrants to the Philippines, 1901–12 by Age
2–3 (4). Japanese Emigrants to the Philippines, 1901–12 by Sex
2–4. Diseases and Deaths on the Benguet Road, October 1, 1903–August 31, 1904
2–5. Average Daily Number of Employees on the Benguet Road Construction, January 1901–August 1904
4–1. Destinations for Philippine Trade Tonnage in 1934: Imports
4–2. Destinations for Philippine Trade Tonnage in 1934: Exports
4–3. Number of Retailing and Wholesaling Establishments According to the Nationality of Their Owners 4–4. Grocery and “Sarisari” Stores According to the Nationality of Their Owners, December 31, 1938
5–1. Free and Dutiable Merchandise Imported in 1940 (Pesos)
5–2. Annual Enrollment by Grades, School Year 1918–19 and 1939–40
5–3. Number of Literate Persons in 1939
5–4. Newspapers and Other Publications (Entered in the Bureau of Posts as Second-Class Mail Matter)
5–5. Number and Net Tonnage of Coastwise Vessels Entered into, and Cleared from, Philippine Ports
5–6. Estimated Commercial Investment by Nationality (Pesos, at the End of Fiscal Year 1937)
5–8. Commercial Investment by Nationality and Province (Pesos), and Chinese and Japanese Populations
5–9. Prices of Japanese Products and American Products
List of Figures

4–1. World Trade by Ports—Export (1,000,000 Yen)
4–2. World Trade by Ports—Import (1,000,000 Yen)
4–3. World Trade by Ports—Export (%)
4–4. World Trade by Ports—Import (%)
4–5. Asian Trade by Ports—Export (%)
4–6. Asian Trade by Ports—Import (%)
4–7. Philippine Trade by Ports—Export (%)
4–8. Philippine Trade by Ports—Import (%)
4–9. U.S. Asian Trade—Export (%)
4–10. U.S. Asian Trade—Import (%)
4–11. U.S. Trade by Ports—Export (%)
4–12. U.S. Trade by Ports—Import (%)
4–13. Import and Export Values in Manila (%)

5–1. Philippine Trade, 1898–1940 (1,000,000 Pesos)
5–2. Philippine Imports, 1898–1940 (%)
5–3. Total Length of Roads (km) and Total of Vehicles, 1912–38
5–4. Numbers of Registered Vehicles, 1912–38

8–1. Number of “Publications of War Memoirs” by Five Years
8–2. Number of Authors by Years of Birth (Every Five Years)

Acknowledgments

I am indebted to Dr. Motoe Terami-Wada and her friends, William Bradley Horton, and Graeme Parker for translating a part of this book into English and/or proofreading it.
Map: Commonwealth of the Philippines

Dedicated to the Memory of Grant K. Goodman (1924–2014) and Lydia N. Yu-Jose (1944–2014)